

International Workshop

現代におけるムスリム知識人と伝統、知識、アイデンティティ

Current preoccupations with identity politics among Muslims and non-Muslims have contributed to the image that the tradition, knowledge, and identity of Muslims are monolithic. On the contrary, pluralism vividly characterizes their production. In this workshop, examples from the lives and works of Muslim intellectuals from the twentieth century and beyond will serve to illustrate this case. Presenters in this workshop will contextualize the thought and experiences of these intellectuals to see how they produced different "tradition," "knowledge," and "identities" in relation to others.

Producing Traditions, Knowledge, and Identities

Muslim Intellectuals in the Contemporary World

◆ Date & Time : Saturday, July 29, 2017 1:00-6:00 pm

◆ Venue: Main Conference Room, Institute for Advanced Studies on Asia, The University of Tokyo (Hongo Campus)

◆ Program

- 1:00 Opening Remarks (Keiko Sakai)
- 1:10 Rationale of the Workshop
- 1:15 Part 1: Politics, Power, and Philosophy (Kenichiro Takao, Mohammed Moussa, Yoko Uno)
- 2:15 Discussion
- 3:15 Part 2: Education, Technology, and Gender (Aya Kokaki, Makoto Sawai, Emi Goto)
- 4:15 Comments (Hiroki Okazaki, Makoto Mizutani, Larbi Sadiki)
- 4:50 Discussion
- 5:55 Closing Remarks (Eiji Nagasawa)

*Language English, Admission Free,
No registration Required*

For the updated program, please check
<https://asnet-utokyo.jp/studies/seminar/2796>
Contact: emi-gto[at]ioc.u-tokyo.ac.jp (Goto)

Organizers:

Group B01: Norms & Identity, Grant-in-Aid for Scientific Research on Innovative Areas: Relational Studies on Global Crises, Establishing a New Paradigm of Social/ Human Sciences based on Relational Studies (Project Leader, Keiko Sakai, Chiba University); Grants-in-aid for Research/Basic Research A: Towards the construction of 'Islam & Gender Studies': Building foundations for comprehensive discussion on gender justice and Islam (Project Leader, Eiji Nagasawa, the University of Tokyo), Institute for Advanced Studies on Asia (IASA) & Network for Education and Study on Asia (ASNET), The University of Tokyo.